Confirmation of the effectiveness of the PSCoat thermal insulation thermoreflective coating application

Our company hereby confirms that on January 20, 2023, PScoat was sprayed in the operations manager's room as a solution to insulate the space, which was insufficiently insulated, and due to this fact during the winter the temperature was very low and in the range between 6-12 degrees Celsius (outdoor temperatures around 0 degrees C and below).

By applying nano thermal insulation spray, we wanted to achieve an increase in thermal comfort in the interior of the room without the need to modify the heating system or add alternative heating elements. After the application of 1 mm thermoreflective thermo-insulating spray PScoat on the walls and ceiling of the room (PScoat was also applied on the two walls of the room from the outside of the wall), the temperatures in the room increased. According to the daily monitoring of temperatures, after application, the internal temperature of the space varies between 19-21 degrees Celsius, depending on the outside temperature (around 0 degrees and below). The system and method of heating in the room remained unchanged.

Professional application of PSCoat nano thermal insulation spray was performed by representatives of company RIVER POWER s.r.o.
